RED ROSE "is good tea" TEA

Over 30 years a standard wherever good tea is liked.

Taxation In Canada

During the war Canada, like all countries, was forced to devise and impose forms of taxation in order to raise the large sums of money required to sustain the Dominion to worthy, efficient, and successful discharge of national obligations. That tragic struggle lasted so long, and the expenditures incurred were so great, that a national debt resulted, and since the Arbitration interest on that debt had to be paid, while large expenditures for personnel and the care of disabled veterans were to be necessary, Canada's resources were taxed to the maximum for Federal purposes.

But this is not all. The war caused inflation of prices in all commodities, and, of course, revenues which formerly were adequate for provincial and municipal purposes were too small, and on top of higher Dominion taxation there had to be imposed greater taxation by Provincial and municipal governments.

The effect of this taxation is greater in Canada than in the United States because this country entered the war at the beginning, whereas the United States only came into it near the close, and after years during which that country amasses great wealth in the work of supplying goods to the Allied powers, while that had not been the case in Canada.

Prior to the war Canada had a low tax rate, but war needs brought about the imposition of an Income Tax, a tax on bank cheques, drafts, notes, etc., a tax on receipts, taxes on matches and other commodities, an increased rate of postage, taxes on excess profits, taxes on business turnover as represented by sales, and sundry other taxes. The accumulation of all these taxes has been so great, and the rate of interest, had it not been for the financial and for developmental purposes, and in the williness of both foreign and domestic money lenders to invest in Canada. Further, the necessity of investing huge sums in Government loans during the war resulted in the withdrawal of hundreds of millions of dollars from other forms of investment, the development of Canadian industrial growth, and development of the natural resources of the country.

With its tremendous accumulation of wealth during the war, and the wonderful expansion in production and industrial activity since then as a direct result of that accumulation of wealth, the United States has been enabled to rapidly develop its Income Tax and other forms of taxation to meet its war needs. This has resulted in greater popularity in the use of Federal taxes imposed on the people of the two countries, to the mutual disadvantage of Canada. On the other hand, Canada compares very favorably with the United States when Provincial State and Municipal taxation is compared.

There is, however, a growing demand throughout the Dominion that this country should have a similar, somewhat similar, but not necessarily identical, taxation to lower the burden of Federal taxation so as to put the tax on terms of greater equality in this respect with our neighbour to the south. Just how this is to be accomplished, and at the same time provide the Federal Government with the revenue it must have, to meet our war obligations and current domestic needs, is the problem.

In this connection the Dominion Government is directing its attention, and, fortunately, the people as a whole, are taking a keen and increasing interest in it. This interest is made manifest in the discussions which took place at the recent convention of the Canadian Board of Trade, in the publications of the Citizens' Research Institute of Canada, in the Dominion-wide campaign recently inaugurated by the Retail Trade Bureau of Canada, and by the resolutions adopted by the Canadian Council of Agriculture respecting the same.

With all these bodies are in agreement on some points, they are at variance in important respects as to policies which should be adopted. All strongly favor more economical administration, the elimination of partisanship and political bias, the simplification of government, reduction of expenses, and a general survey of all national expenses before embarking on any future taxation, all of which will make for lower taxation. But they differ when it comes to the question of just what taxes should now be entirely eliminated. There are two sides to these questions, as there are to most issues of outstanding importance, and it will be of value to consider these in a subsequent article.

As a general gratifying fact, the Canadian Government has reduced its tax on bank cheques, wiped out the tax on receipts repeated, the tax on bank cheques for small amounts removed, and a substantial reduction made in the Income Tax, especially on smaller incomes. Furthermore, the Finance Minister has announced further reductions will be shortly forthcoming, and these will have to be expected. A survey by Governmental officials of the operation of the Income Tax and Sales Tax, and their effect on business and the country's development, in general, with a view to guiding the Government in the preparation of the next budget.

Taking His Revenge

It got to a growing line that the honest at the top requested the removal of the top to show.

"It is too late, madam," he protest. "I should disturb your neighbor."

"Not at all," declared the last, becoming. "Besides, we are then something. They poleaxed our dog last week."

The fortress of Saint Peter and Paul in Leinster, long famous as a prison, is to be converted into an historical museum.

A cattle syndicate has a perfect right to water its stock occasionally.

The summer fish catch on Lake Shuswap was good, according to E. T. Roald, Canadian Fisheries Inspector at Edmonton, who states that more than 650,000 lbs. of whitefish were taken out of the lake with 48,000 gill nets.

Electric propulsion, he said, will eliminate the necessity of engine room signals and place absolute control of the vessel on the ship's bridge, resulting in a reduction of operating expenses and increased safety.

Modern Sea Mysteries

Sailors Encounter Many Tragedies Which Cannot be Explained

In spite of the advances of science along the lines of steam, electricity, wireless communication, ship construction and a hundred other things, mysteries of the ocean still remain.

Tragedies, grim and inexplicable still keep abounding themselves, and the science of man seems impotent when pitted against the vast weight, might and power of the sea.

One of the most mysterious is that surrounding a schooner, the "Mary Cornish," "Fate of her crew unknown."

She was picked up by an American fishing vessel, the "Lure," a week before the tragedy and with her sail loosely stowed.

The schooner was in trim, and apparently had not encountered any great weather, deck, and below, all was in order; and the trade-wind was blowing.

But the crew had not been disturbed.

In the deck house, where a swing-lamp was still burning, lay a copy of the Sydney Mail many months old, slightly charred and with blood stains on the cover. The body was laid in its case. Some of her boats were missing. But not a living thing was to be found in her. The doom of her crew is another unsolved mystery of the sea.

NEGLECTED ANAEMIA

Often Leads to Death—Erich the Blood by Taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pill

In their daily toil it is quite common for men to feel a general loss of strength, and mothers should care for their children in the same manner at this time, for it is when strength is sapped by rapid growth, signs may be noted by peevishness, languor and headaches. The face may be pale, the skin dry and the appetite follow, with low spirits.

At the first symptom of anaemia the men should be advised to take a few of the Williams' Pink Pill, which will quickly banish all signs of anaemia. They will then be in a position to take a more robust childhood. Give your daughter a comb, and a pink ribbon.

Many little girls are thousands of miles away from home, and have been removed from the care of their mothers, and the Williams' Pink Pill is a sure proof.

HOT DOGS

Even the oldest oldtimer had to take a backseat last Saturday.

We couldn't find one who had ever seen a worse storm.

Most estates in local offices however are grateful for such a storm. It keeps them full of chair-warmer.

Not to mention the free heat benefits.

Somebody asked us if we knew when a man was not a man.

The best we could do on the subject was: "Dorming."

So he said a man was not a man, until he got married and got his other rib back.

Lorne said he was not talking for publication. We weren't either, just listening.

The Claresholm bakery will give a suitably decorated cake to the first baby born around here in 1927.

Hurry up babies.

But have a heart, and come one at a time.

One of our local business men was sadly surprised a torn pair of pants.

That is the way it goes in this contradictory world.

Only those nations who wear breeches sit on chairs. The others just squat on their heels.

We watched Ali McAllister the other day, opening and closing the door of his garage for the seemingly endless stream of cars that goes in and out.

If he would bow low from the waist, he would make an excellent butler.

This town is getting to be quite metropolitan.

We have even got a couple of stage door johns.

Marconi, the father of Radio, wanted to harness the currents of the atmosphere so that the human voice would carry over distances theretofore thought to be impossible.

What radio did to the carrying power of the human voice, is what advertising is doing for progressive merchants everywhere. It brings the appeal of his goods and the desirability of them direct to the prospective buyer. It wakes slumbering desire and creates new demand. The value of advertising is and has been recognized for hundreds of years by business men who have gone far in the world through its influence.

As the master musician demands an instrument perfect in construction and tone, so does the advertisement demand wellwritten copy and a generally read medium.

The Review-Advertiser can give you an advertising service unexcelled in this district. Whether it is newspaper, poster or direct by mail advertising, the Review-Advertiser can give you service. If desired we give assistance in the writing of copy and similar matters. If you wish to do direct by mail advertising we can submit dummies and help you plan your campaign.

Peace Through Education

People Should Study Way to Settle Disputes Out of War, by Settle

Addressing the assembly gathered at Royal Victoria College, under the auspices of the Mett-Canadian Club and the Canadian Society of Education, Lord Elgin struck an oration which he said education should be directed towards obtaining. If possible, some method of settling international disputes should be found. The voice of war, and thus Congress should be placed upon the establishment of some court or tribunal which shall be effective without resort to bloodshed.

It is for the people who care and who are willing to study and think, to try to create an atmosphere other than the dismal and dangerous muck which represents the rough-and-tumble of war, the carnage, the noise, the hideous instruments and appalling prospects of vast destruction and carnage. And this can only really be accomplished, if there is a steady and constant effort of peace and the study amongst the young and within the family circle. No international treaties and no diplomatic signatures by themselves will never erect a firm, solid wall between the two countries separated by warfare or during the intense feelings aroused when war is imminent or hostilities have actually begun.

The outburst of war is the last analysis, nothing but the desire of the sly or slyest to have someone to do all the fighting. To bring this about it is necessary to be shrewd to the point of meanness to shun our boastful and vainglorious ways, our new. What a glorious confession of failure it would be to vaunt ourselves of conquering and ordering the knowledge of things outside us, and never being able to do anything but submit to the will and orders of those human relations which stand closer to our welfare than all other enterprises put together.—The Gazette, Montreal.

Was Once a Delicacy

People in Olden Days, of Fops.

Explorers in the Middle Ages, before the fact of the existence of a colony, a church, a church steeple of the period was frequently regaled with porpoise, and, at the sole instigation of Bishop Neville, four of those cetaceans digested in the church.

In the 15th century of Yarmouth presented a fine specimen of a porpoise to Lord Oxford. It was accepted by an address in which it was stated that the head had chosen this as one which would be specially acceptable to him.

The porpoise was a delicacy highly appreciated at Court. In the reign of Edward IV, a porpoise was sent to the King, who was so pleased with it that it appeared at the Royal table.

At a sumptuous banquet prepared for Richard II, they also appeared. At the splendid coronation feast of Henry VI, various dishes were served, including a porpoise, which was to be thought of as a delicacy. The minstrel which referred to these people as "foreigners" is a small minority indeed. They are potential Canadians as far as the Canadian government is concerned.

Good Queen Bess, who was credited with a refined taste for food, was fond of porpoise, and it often appeared on her table.

It was sold in the English markets up to the year 1600. After that the popularity waned, and it was no longer served as a delicacy.

England's situation is good. The embouchure situation throughout the country shows further betterment and prospects are cheerful. As recorded by the Donington Bureau of Statistics the early part of October was the best ever, and that since 1898. Revenues compare favorably with $2.918 and state's debts had been augmented during the month by $2.51.

Afghan Soviet Grain Exports. The appearance of Canadian grain, first on the world market, seriously has affected this year's Soviet exports, according to Moscow Economic Life, reporting that the collection of the Soviet grain crop was hampered by the later because of the attempts of the government to reduce grain prices on the interior markets.

Ontario Gold Production

Ontario continues its progress as a gold producer with a record production for the eight months of the present year of $26,756,666. This is the third largest amount ever to be paid in yellow metal in that province. The Provincial Government estimates a total year's output of $28,000,000.

What's that?" asked one Scotman of another, "I'll talk what you talk." "Then we'll talk a wee walk."

Radio is said to have introduced 2,600 more words into the English language.

Beevarx is Valuable

Every Particle Should be Saved as Demand is Greater Than Supply. Wax is a valuable product of the hive too often allowed to go to waste in many apariaries. Pound for pounds between the two valuable than honey, the demand for wax is probably greater than the supply, therefore it is to the advantage of every bee-keeper to see that none is lost.

Wax is largely produced through certain glands in the bodies of the bees. The wax is derived from the comb and the capping over of brood and honey; therefore, every piece of comb from the hives and the cappings that are removed from the hives should be melted and rendered to obtain a certain amount of wax. In large apariaries, especially those run for extracted honey, the accumulation of cappings, broken or discarded combs, adventurous bees, and wax from the brood and honey may yield several hundred pounds of wax, while in smaller apariaries the amount may be comparatively small, yet enough to warrant the saving of wax.

During the summer months when the bees are examine, every day and especially when there is a heavy honey flow, it may be found that there are many small pieces of broken or burnt comb. These are usually thrown to the ground, which is not only a dangerous waste, but a certain price to pay. A wax extractor is a must in every apariary, and some consider it necessary to have a few small pieces of wax at hand to serve as a base for the northern channel.

It is not only a victory of science for commerce, but it reminds us of the wholesome domestic instinct of the Canadian people.

Last spring a salmon was taken in British Columbia waters which had been previously captured there.

The salmon was taken in the waters of the Pacific Ocean, and was caught in the Panama Canal or near the extremity of South America in order to return to the waters of its birth.

These Indians have the same qualities with qualities almost human.

May these qualities be embraced more fully by the ex-Canadians who have gone abroad to await the passing of post-war depression at home!

Rooted in Canadian Soil

Many American Farmers Think Up Possibilities in Canada

The New York Sun has been capturing the eyeball and glow of popularity across the Canadian border. But it is not as much impressed with Canadian agriculture as with its possibilities, for it says, indeed, that "either country materially gains by these sporadic movements it is Canada. Factory workers who come into Canada, the more than the Canadian who goes to the United States, are prepared, inclined for the most part to return to their own land when work becomes scarce, and there are plenty of opportunities in Canada."

It is the belief of Yarmouth that a porpoise to Lord Oxford. It was accepted by an address in which it was stated that the head had chosen this as one which would be specially acceptable to him.

Home-Loving Salmon

Salmon Tagged in B.C., and Released in Nova Scotia, Returns to Prince Edward Island.

The news story in The Globe on Saturday of the manner in which a salmon tagged in British Columbia had taken all-Canadian route to the Fraser, and thus escape the dangerous American waters near Victoria, is an inspiring record. Formerly the growth of salmon from the Fraser River to the Pacific was a mystery, but now it is known that salmon from the Fraser River, after a southern route, and were so largely captured by intensive fishing in United States waters that few reached Canada.

Scientists found that a few fast fish took the northern route, in all Canadian waters, and the eggs from these were hatched and the fry sent back to the Pacific. The homing instinct of the salmon is well known, and it is known that the salmon returns to the place of its birth after four or five years in deep waters, and by the same route. So this year there was a heavy catch of fish returning from the Fraser to the Pacific by the northern channel.

It is not only a victory of science for commerce, but it reminds us of the wholesome domestic instinct of the Canadian people.

Expedition to Explore London Sewers Not for Celibacy

A three-year-old boy is shortly to be embarked upon among unknown parts of the City of London.

Raging torrents and placid streams, deep tunnels and shallow gullies through which a manor van could be hauled with little difficulty will be met with by the men who are to survey the City of London sewers for the first time since 1878.

These have been a steady source of sewers in the City area. Some go back to Elizabethan days and probably a few before that. It is with the intention of the Corporation to have these merged and consolidated. It was felt that it was no longer necessary to go to the bottom of the sewers to the products of which have been eliminated in applying it, advertisement could be stopped without loss. The industry could then count on a steady and against which no man can stand.

Publcity Constantly Required and Only Obtained Through Advertising

It used to be said that competition was the life of trade. In a recent speech, President Coolidge suggested that the life of trade was advertising. This is not the whole story, however.

C.P.R.'s Finest Locomotive

Another marked improvement in the efficiency and construction of modern railroads is now being made by the Canadian Pacific Railway. Twenty-four "Parcile" type locomotives are being delivered to the company, and are the most powerful in use. They will be known as the G-6 class and are very similar in design to the "Unknown" series of nickel boiler, which is the first nickel steel shell boiler plate used in locomotive construction on the American continent.

Delivery has also started on 20 M-6 type locomotives of the 2,500 series, having the same improvements as have been applied to the 2,200 series, with the addition of mechanical stoker.

Like thousands of others, Vincent Beland, proprietor of Beland Barber Shop, 194 Laurier West, Montreal, found a quick relief from insomnia suffered in Tamie.

Mr. Beland says: "At the end of a terrible 'flu' stage of La Grippe, I was so completely exhausted that I could not walk. For weeks I could not sleep.

"I was so weak, I was suffering from breath, choking sensations and a nagging, wracking cough, made life almost unbearable. I was so weak that I was persuaded by a man who was benefited by Tamie to try it out.

"I got up, got dressed, got up and move about the house after taking two bottles of Tamie, and by the time I had had Tamie, I was so well I would like to return to work.

"I have an excellent medicine, sleep well, eat well, and I feel 110 percent fed fine in every way. It is with pleasure that I recommend Tamie to anyone.

CHAPTER XX.

In Eglington's Home

A better, the ancient one whose years, seemed to identify him with the old house, brought word that Mr. Eglington would join them shortly. If it would be desired to wait, Brandon, who had been silent, had now appeared noticeably, held out his cigarette case to Joanna. She shook her head.

"No, not in here," she said. "Somehow, it doesn't seem as if—, as if one smoked in this house, does it?"

"That is a curious feeling," he observed. "I don't imagine my esteemed uncle smoked them, but I remember him smoking them. If you would not adopt a pose of innocence of them because of a traditionary regard for your banker's tastes?"

"No," she replied, "I wouldn't do that. But, just the same, I don't want to smoke."

She moved away from the table and a window, Brandon, met her slowly, saw that as she crossed the room her glance fell again on the painting over the fireplace. She looked back at him, and then, after a few moments of silence, she turned suddenly and went directly up to the fireplace. The action was as if in response to some occult summons from the girl who looked down so serenely from the canvas.

Joanna had come up to the mantel ledge and gazed up into the face in the portrait. It was a picture that might have amused her, with its prim, voluminous skirt, from under which just a tiny peep of her trim, daintily dressed sleeves and absurdly tiny waist that almost shirked out of the corsets of yesterday. The sign of virgin modesty was there, the sign of virgin modesty was there, the sign of virgin modesty was there.

THIS MOTHER GLAD DAUGHTER IS WELL

Mrs. Parks Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Daughter's Health

Toronto, Ontario.—"My daughter is 16 now and has been an invalid since she was six months old and has been compelled to sell the greater part of the time. We have not been able to afford the best kinds of medicine, but none helped her until we took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now she is well again."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for young women's troubles.

For sale by druggists everywhere, C.

with emeralds. She found the room entirely deserted. "My uncle is evidently detached," she said. "He is not to be a heavy affair."

Joanna was confused. She wanted to refute that accusation that it was the house of her host that oppressed her.

Eggleton received her with a stiff, formal greeting that ignored Brandon's allusion to the house. She made a valiant effort to throw off the shyness that suddenly threatened her in the presence of the great banker who knew the secret of her mystery. She knew, instinctively, that he had not been asked to visit him, at his home, without some very definite reason. But whatever this reason might be, she was convinced that it, also, would be kept from her. Eggleton's phrases were formal, cold, and when she detected something in his manner—that was quite all that she could determine about it, that it was, she thought, "Miss Twombly," as yet mind, "a very good girl" and not because she was analytically inclined.

"I understand," the banker said, when they had taken their places at the table in a massive dining room—a room that contained the library which housed the best of the Museum of Natural History, and the C.P.R. likewise has offered him £5000 quarterly sections. The minister will have an investigation made by the land settlement commission to ascertain the value and suitability of these lands for British families.

The Hudson's Bay Company has paid him £5000 quarterly sections the disposal of the Minister of Indian Affairs, and the C.P.R. likewise has offered him £5000 quarterly sections.

But you were quite a success.

That was my nephew, here, but you give me to understand."

"I'm glad you are good to me."

"You have, then, formed any substantial ambitions. You are the trustee of a fortune. I am interested in your immediate future."

Brandon, who had been up quickly, should be willing to go. In instruction you give me?" he asked.

"If you give me none, I can do nothing else but enjoy myself as best I can, and then go home to my home remedy. They regulate the bowels; sweeten the stomach; banish constipation; and simple fevers—in fact they relieve all the minor ills of little ones, and the old. I have a box of them, Mahanak, Que., writes: 'Baby's Own'—a good, strong, safe medicine, and terrible from indigestion and vomiting. Tablets soon to her right and now, it is a perfect health."

The tablets are sold by mail or post office by mail or by a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"I have no use for them," he said.

WORST STORM IN YEARS
Deaths Resulted in Both Canada and the United States

Last Saturday morning the worst blizzard in years set in, covering Canada from the Rocky Mountains to the Great Lakes, and the greater part of the United States. Southwestern Alberta received its full share, though fortunately there has been no loss of life in this section.

Near Hanna, Alberta, Mrs. I. F. Stewart and her two year old daughter perished in their own farmyard through becoming lost in the storm. Rube Shannon, a farmer near Sedalia, Alberta, died last night within a mile of his home, having succumbed to the cold. A total of seven deaths are reported from the other prairie provinces.

Chicago, Dec. 14.—Bitter winter swept into the eastern half of the country today from western states struggling in the grip of zero weather and drifted snows. Swirling winds bore the cold wave across the Mississippi Valley and flung it in a broad fan that brushed the Atlantic seaboard and reached the gulf coast. Normal life came to a virtual standstill in the northwest, and down into the central states trains were running behind schedule, schools were closed and communication crippled. Blizzards and winds of near-gale velocity played havoc with the air mail. Eight lives are known to have been lost. In Montana, Wyoming and Colorado the mercury dropped to 30 below zero. The southeast shivered in below zero weather.

Winners in Seed Grain

The complete list of Alberta winners in seed grains at Chicago is as follows:

Hard Red Spring Wheat—First and championship, Herman Treille and Wembley; twelfth, R. A. Meeks, Manville; fourteenth, Grenville &amp; Shearer; Morrin; twenty-third, J. R. Hannanold, Howie.

Oats—First and championship, Herman Treille, Wembley; thirteenth, Richard Harrison, Okotoks; sixteenth, A. Longhead, Bowden; eighteenth, E. B. Tudor, Strathmore.

Two Rowed Barley—thirteenth, E. B. Tudor, Strathmore.

Flax—Tenth, A. Longhead, Bowden; twelfth, Foot, Rauier; Timothy—Third, Robert Cochran, Grande Prairie; twelfth, A. Longhead, Bowden.

Field Peas—First, J. T. Hill, Bowden; third, H. G. F. Strange, Fortin; fourth, Mrs. M. Graham, Riverton.

The official weight of the wheat on which Mr. Treille won the world's championship was 65.6 lbs per bushel by American standards, and the weight of the oats was 49.1 lbs per bushel.

Protests Conditions at Chicago

Special representations for the winter wheat and barley sections under which seed grain is shown at the Chicago International Hay and Grain Show, will be made by Hon. Geo. H. Holley, minister of agriculture of Alberta, and other provincial departments of agriculture, to the appropriate sections of the Chicago show. These representations follow up protests which have been made for the past four years by representatives from several of the provinces against the present unsatisfactory conditions under which grain is shown at Chicago. These conditions are such that it is possible for outsiders, to interfere with and interfere in operation into the grain exhibits until the judges have done their work. It was found this year that mixed grain had been introduced into the Alberta and other Canadian exhibits, and that before judging was completed, and taken unknown to the authorities, and it was only quick work on the part of the exhibitors themselves that saved the exhibits from being counted out. The exhibitors have now agreed to furnish complete protection for the exhibits before next year's exhibition.
